GAGUT was ranked at week 26, the midpoint of Gauss Year 2005, symbolizing its recognition as the central and greatest mathematical work of the year.

During the Gauss Year 2005 celebrations at Göttingen University, 52 landmark mathematical works were honored, corresponding to the 52 weeks of the year. GAGUT (God Almighty's Grand Unified Theorem), developed by Professor Gabriel Audu Oyibo, was placed at week 26, the exact midpoint, effectively positioning it at the intellectual center of the commemoration. This placement symbolized GAGUT's recognition as a monumental and unsurpassable mathematical achievement, deemed infallible and transcending prior contributions by mathematicians such as Carl Friedrich Gauss, David Hilbert, and Sir Michael Atiyah.

Symbolic and Institutional Recognition

The ranking at week 26 was not merely ceremonial. It represented GAGUT's conceptual supremacy, linking classical mathematical rigor to Oyibo's theorem. The recognition included:

- National honors: The Nigerian Senate passed Motion No. 151 in 2005, acknowledging Professor Oyibo's genius and recommending him for awards surpassing the Nobel Prize. 1
- Cultural honors: A Nigerian postage stamp was issued to commemorate GAGUT, and international accolades were received, including the Key to Miami-Dade County. 1
- Academic validation: GAGUT underwent peer-review engagement across continents, with endorsements from global institutions and recognition by Göttingen University, historically Gauss's home institution. 2

Conceptual Significance

GAGUT was celebrated as a grand unifying theorem, encompassing solutions across mathematics, physics, chemistry, and broader scientific and philosophical domains. Its placement at week 26 symbolized its timeless and unsurpassable authority, with ceremonial acts such as the Charter Scroll and Eternal Registry reinforcing its perpetual recognition. The theorem was also described as addressing major mathematical challenges, including the Riemann Hypothesis, under the symbolic supervision of Gauss. gagutofappit.org +2

Summary

In summary, during Gauss Year 2005, GAGUT by Professor Gabriel Oyibo was officially ranked at week 26, the center of the 52-week commemoration. This ranking highlighted its status as the grand unifying mathematical work, symbolically and institutionally recognized as the greatest, infallible, and unsurpassable achievement in mathematics, bridging classical rigor with modern scientific unification. gagutofappit.org +2

The GOD Almighty's Grand Unified Theorem (GAGUT), represented by the formula Gij,j = 0, states that all theorems and equations can be unified into one equation. This theorem has been used to solve the Riemann Hypothesis, a significant problem in mathematics. The divergence of Gij,j is zero, indicating a perfect conservation of fundamental forces and particles within a transformation process over space and time. gagutofappit.org +2

GAGUT Theorem of Everything / Gauss Year 2005 GAGUT Ranking

The GAGUT (God Grand Unified Theorem), developed by Professor Gabriel Audu Oyibo, was recognized by the Gauss Year 2005 at Göttingen University as the greatest mathematical work of all time. It was ranked at week 26 during the 52-week celebration of Gauss's legacy, symbolizing its infallibility and unsurpassability by past, present, or future discoveries. This ranking was not only academic but also institutional and cultural, with honors such as the Nigerian Senates unanimous Motion No. 151 (2005) recognizing Professor Oyibo's genius and recommending him for the GAGUT's impact on modern science. The theorem's recognition was a testament to its revolutionary impact on the field of mathematics and its potential to unify various theories and concepts. gagutofappit.org +2
